A Word about SAD Season: Changing physical factors (rest, sunlight, food, exercise, fresh air, medical) is helpful and biblical (3John 2). At the core of depression is commonly hopelessness of a heart whose expectations are unmet (Prov. 13:12). A pre-occupation with self causes much turmoil. Being so consumed with one's own problems to the exclusion of all else results in destructive self-centeredness. It's remedy is to turn to the God of hope and tend to needs of others (self-denial). If it were not for unbelief, even the devil himself would be powerless to spiritually depress us (Ps. 42:11). Surrender your heart to God's comfort.
